

Update in Travel Health

Course information

An independent training platform of a bespoke update in travel health covering a number of topics will be set up for the delegates to view at their leisure over a four-week period.

This training platform is created by Jane Chiodini and it will contain a series of recorded talks by her – just the same as if delegates were at a face-to-face meeting. In addition, there will be links provided to enable access to some of the materials discussed in the presentations, tools to use in day-to-day practice, self-check questions to reinforce learning, novel e learning and much more.

Depending on how much the resources are explored, it will take up to a day to complete. Students are able to e mail Jane directly with any queries about the training content and will receive a personal email reply back within 3 working days.

Course Content

- COVID-19 and travel, some background, but also tips and hints!
- Malaria update including news of the 2021 guidelines
- Good Practice Guidance - learn about a new guidance document
- Yellow fever update - news relevant to everyone
- Travel health provision in General Practice
- A refresher on the NHS travel vaccines (and diseases)
- Polio update and news of the ongoing PHEIC
- Hepatitis A vaccine update
- Dilemmas in practice - e learning looking at some common errors
- Case studies - addressing common issues to refresh your memory
- New publications and resources
- In the News - quick fire information related to the latest travel related news
- Social media and its relevance in keeping up to date
- Questions and information about completing the course

Online course details

Course Provider	Course Length	Access
Jane Chiodini Travel Health Nurse Specialist	7 hours	Must be accessed and completed before 31.12.2022  Applicants have 3 weeks to complete.

To apply for this course please complete this application form